The 90s

The 1990s is the minimalist answer to 1980s fashion. The style has a non-committal appeal, ie: waist-length cotton blouses with thin straps, tracksuits and sportswear and jeans, which gained great popularity.

Coco Chanel

Coco lived between 18883 and 1971. She simplified women's fashion. She challenged the fashion norms of the early 20th century. In the 1920s she chose black, which was the colour worn by people in mourning at the time, and showed that this colour could make for chic evening wear. It is to her that we owe the "little black dress", the basic garment in every designer's collection. At a time when women did not wear trousers, she showed that trousers could be chic when paired with the right accessories.

HOLIDAYS

World Siberian Day

Polish holiday held annually on 17 September on the anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Poland. The first World Siberian Day was held in 2004.

Teachers' Day

This holiday has been celebrated since 1972, but since 1982 it has been renamed National Education Day. It falls on 14 October and this year it falls on a Friday, but at our school we celebrate it on a Thursday. This holiday highlights their role in the quality of education. A teacher has been teaching children how to have their dream profession for many generations. Pupils! We must not forget to respect our educators who take the time for us!

- 1 packet vanilla sugar
- zest grated from 1 orange or 2 mandarins
- 3 eggs, yolks and whites separate
- 225 g wheat flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda

Topping:

50g white chocolate or 5 tablespoons icing sugar

- Gently combine the dry and wet ingredients - stir slowly with a spoon just until the ingredients are combined, gently stir in the egg whites at the end.

- Pour the mixture into the cake tin. Place in the preheated oven and bake for approx. 40 - 45 minutes or until dry. Remove from the oven and allow to cool.

Topping: Add the melted chocolate or icing sugar to the set aside mixture and mix. Pour over the cake once it has cooled down.
